

From the Editor

In recent issues of INFANTRY, you have seen articles on subjects ranging from desert driving tips to the effects of cold regions on military operations, and on military experiences ranging from the U.S. Civil War to the Gulf War. As you have noticed, the authors of these pieces range from a noncommissioned officer and both field-grade and company-grade officers to a general officer.

This diversity in subject matter, in periods of our history, and in contributing authors also typifies the diversity of our readership. INFANTRY is read throughout our own armed forces, the civilian community, and in more than 40 other countries. This variety and the timeliness of information have helped keep INFANTRY in print for more than 70 years.

You can help us maintain the quality and variety of the infantryman's professional bulletin in several ways. One way is to write articles for publication. Another way is to read critically and comment on the articles you see in print. Many of these articles present new ways of performing the tasks of our profession, but these may not be the only ways or the best ways. Let us know when you think an author is on track, and we'll pass it along to him. Challenge what you don't agree with, and offer your own suggestions.

A third way to support INFANTRY is to encourage others to subscribe, and renew your own subscription when it is due. This way, you'll be sure of having your own copy of our branch bulletin and won't have to search for one of the few copies your unit receives.

You, the readers of INFANTRY, have done a superb job of supporting your branch bulletin over the years, and I look forward to hearing from you and responding to your comments.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

INFANTRY is available to subscribers at $12.00 for one year and $23.00 for two years. Foreign (non-APO) subscribers must add $4.00 per subscription per year to cover mailing (surface mail) and handling charges. Foreign air mail rates will be furnished on request. Single copies are $2.50 each if sent to a U.S. address.

Payment must be made in U.S. currency, by international money order, or by a check or draft drawn on a U.S. bank. For best service, payment should accompany each order, because we cannot start a subscription until we have received full payment for it. Checks, money orders, or drafts should be made payable to INFANTRY.

One-year subscriptions are not refundable. Two-year subscriptions are refundable, but service and handling charges will be deducted.
